

Your Children Gain

THEIR earliest impressions from the kind of furniture with which your home is furnished. In your bedroom you should have bright, attractive furniture of the kind that appeals to the eye when the children wake up for the day's activities.

There is no bedroom furniture made that more successfully carries out this idea than the celebrated "Gunlocke" old ivory finished bedroom chairs, upholstered in beautifully figured cretonne, and so substantially built that they will last for generations.

When you compare the beauty of design, the strong workmanship and general attractiveness of the "Gunlocke" furniture with the prices asked for it, you will wonder how such furniture can be made at such moderate prices. This holds true of the library and living room chairs of oak, mahogany and walnut which are also made by the Gunlocke Company, and are included in our present showing of "Gunlocke" furniture.

An express horse owned by Paul Scampini became frightened at a passing locomotive in Depot square this morning and while the master tarried within Jack's restaurant, the animal began a program of capers that boded ill for passersby in the square. John Lanie was the first to volunteer for assistance and when he made a move to grasp the reins, a canopy top became detached from the seat and came crashing down on his head. Mr. Scampini heard the commotion and quieted the horse before any more damage was done. Contact with the framework of the canopy raised a lump on Mr. Lanie's head, but his quickness probably averted a more serious sequel to the runaway.

News was received here this morning of the death in Worcester yesterday of Oscar Utton, whose demise postdated the death of his wife by 10 days. Mr. Utton's death was due to an attack of erysipelas and the passing away of his wife April 1 followed a brief illness. Mr. and Mrs. Utton, contemplating taking up their residence in Barre, had gone so far as to lease one of the Stickney tenements in Church street and had transferred a part of their household goods to this city when illness overtook them. Mr. Utton was to have been employed as a teamster by W. A. Bradford and his son, Arthur Utton, who planned to accompany them here, expected to be engaged by Supt. Alex Hanton of the city cemeteries during the spring and summer.

The annual sugar party given by Mrs. A. W. Allen and Stanley Marsh to the choir boys of the Church of the Good Shepherd and their friends was celebrated last evening by a large number, and it proved to be one of the merriest get-togethers of the season. The post-prandial exercises were in the nature of an appreciation of George Mitchell, who has long been a valued member of the choir and Sunday school and a vestryman of the church, and who leaves soon for Pennsylvania. N. J. Roberts, in behalf of Mr. Mitchell's friends, presented him a handsome traveling bag, and Mr. Mitchell, surprised at the turn the affair had taken, responded in an appropriate manner. The choir boys, after heartily cheering Mr. Mitchell, dispersed with their latest yell, which sounded like this:

Ring! Ring! Ring!
Yell and sing.
Summer, winter, fall and spring.
Are we singers?
Sure we are.
Hoo-rah! Hoo-rah!
Rah! Rah! Rah!

Comfort kits which Barre women are putting together for members of the Headquarters company at Fort Ethan Allen are nearing completion and the shipment to the soldiers is to be made within a few days. The appearance of the kits indicate that careful handiwork has entered into the work and no pains have been spared in providing each with the little necessities not always to be found in the knapsack of a guardsman. Work on the kits was gotten under way a week before the company entrained for the fort.

A housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. John Papin, who recently moved into their new home on Allen street, was one of the surprises in store for them last evening when a company of 20 friends came to gether in honor of their 17th wedding anniversary. The guests were joyfully received by the couple and an impromptu program of singing and instrumental numbers added to the pleasure of the gathering. Midway of the evening John Nelson, Jr., speaking in behalf of those assembled, presented Mr. and Mrs. Papin a fine dinner set of Haviland china. Mr. Papin responding for himself and his wife. A substantial buffet luncheon brought the anniversary and housewarming to a close. Mr. and Mrs. Papin were married in Plattsburg, N. Y., April 11, 1900, and arrived next day in Barre, where they have continued their residence since. Mr. Papin is associated with his brother, Joseph J. Papin, in the horse and auto livery business on North Main street.
